DETAILED ACTIONElection/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Species I, including claims 1 and 4-8, relate to said pattern having a plurality of first resource cells and a second resource cell having a resource different than the plurality of first resource cells; selectively suppressing a side lobe of a first beam having a first resource by selectively reshaping the antenna surface at interference locations and maintaining a shape of the antenna in non-interference locations to form a suppressed portion and a non-suppressed portion so that said non-suppressed portion aligns with said second resource cell and a side lobe suppressed portion of the first beam aligns with other beams having the first resource.

Species II, including claim 9-14, relate to a plurality of main lobes directed to one of a first plurality of cells and a plurality of side lobes and a second plurality of beams having a second resource directed to one of a second plurality of cells, said antenna selectively shaped so that said side lobes of said first plurality of beams are selectively suppressed in directions of other beams of said first plurality of cells having said first resource and said side lobes are unsuppressed in the second plurality of cells.

Art Unit: 2617

Species III, including claims 15 and 17-20, relate generating, with an antenna, a fixed reuse pattern having a maximum capacity having a first beam having a first resource and a first plurality of beams having the first resource; generating, with the antenna, a second plurality of beams having a second resource different than the first resource; identifying interference locations of said first beam relative to said plurality of second beams; selectively reshaping an antenna to selectively suppress interference at the interference locations with the first plurality of beams and maintaining the shape of the antenna in non-interference locations, and maintaining the antenna to not suppress interference at non-interference locations.

Species IV, including claims 21, 23 and 24, relate to selectively performing side lobe suppression only for beams using a same communication resource and maintaining a shape of the antenna to not suppress interference for beams using a different communication resource.

2. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

3. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

4. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
